
My Favorite Albums

Posted by theguy - 2008/03/26 05:48

In most instances you can get a more accurate impression about a person judging by their taste in art, music, or literature, than you would by simply asking them.

The albums which hold a special place in my heart (in no particular order):

Jimi Hendrix: Band of Gypsies, Axis Bold As Love
D'Angelo: Voodoo
Buckethead: Colma
Jim Hall/Bill Evans: Undercurrent
Bill Evans Trio: At The Village Vanguard
Jeff Buckley: Grace
Prince: N.E.W.S.
Modest Mouse: Good News for People Who Love Bad News
Jeff Beck: Truth
Radiohead: Amnesiac, Hail to the Thief, Kid A etc.

I believe that ones favorite albums are a reflection of their association with the music. The emotional attachment to a cd is as much about the memories associated with the music, as it is the music itself, if not more so.

=====

Re:My Favorite Albums

Posted by theguy - 2008/10/31 04:54

My drummer on the most recent tour in Nepal is the singer and pianist for the group Mouse Kills Tiger. I heard their new album while waiting to board a plane in New Delhi.

Download their album for free here

<http://www.yellowthenblue.com/index10.html>

=====